

Must Be Dyin'

© 2011 by R. Bowdon

key of G, tempo 96, 4/4 time; Jim: Acoustic

intro 2 measures:

G D7 G D7

<sup>G</sup>
There's a flat and dusty road

<sup>C7</sup>
that I walk down all alone

<sup>G</sup>
There's an old stone cabin

<sup>A7</sup>                      <sup>D7</sup>
where I lay my weary bones

<sup>G</sup>                                      <sup>G7</sup>
I'm just stuck here on the ground

<sup>C7</sup>
Lord I sure ain't flyin'

<sup>G</sup>              <sup>D7</sup>                      <sup>G</sup>      <sup>D7</sup>
No this can't be livin' must be dyin'

I ain't got no crop to sell / draw no water from that well
And I ain't getting any prettier / as far as I can tell
That old clock stopped yesterday / Lord it must want windin'
No this can't be livin' must be dyin'

break

There's a faded wooden door / where you used to live before
And I stand and stare / like I'm bolted to the floor
The people say you moved away / they might be lyin'
No this can't be livin' must be dyin'

break

Repeat first verse, add tag:

When I see you with him well I just start cryin'
Lord this can't be livin' must be dyin'
